Adam told Brian he would watch a video, but then says, "Sorry my cousin is calling," and answers his phone. Brian then puts his phone in Adam's face to show him the video while Adam is on the phone. Is this the right thing to do? Why or why not?

What should Brian have done instead?

Did Adam respond correctly to Brian? Why or why not?

How do you think Adam feels that Brian didn't listen to him, and interrupted him?
